GREAT BATTLE ON YALE FIELD TO-DAY

Wild Interest in Annual Game Between the Blue and Princeton's Orange.

UNBROKEN RECORD

Sons of Eli Have Not Had Their Goal Line Crossed-Princeton Has Been Beaten .

(By Associated Press.)

NEW HAVEN, CONN., November 17 .-Banners of Yale blue, with here and there a color splash of the orange of Princeton, and throngs of lively cheering graduates and undergraduates upon the dences of the fact that this was the eve of the annual foot-ball contest between the two universities. All day visitors poured into the city, bringing with them enthusiasm and good fellowship at the prospect of a royally good battle on Yale field to-morrow.

Everything is in readiness for the game, and as the best of weather is predicted, and as the best of weather is predicted, the crowd promises to be a record-breaker. The talk on both sides was almost wholly upon the success of tomorrow's game. A score in double figures is expected by Yale, but as it is a college tradition that Princeton always plays her best game against the blue, the undergraduate body seems to be prepared for anything. The men of old Nassau were not so much in evidence to-night as in the years when Princeton came here for oversight quarters.

were not so much in evidence to-night as in the years when Princeton came here for oversight quarters.

The making of wagers on the outcome has never before been so insignificant. A few bets with Yale giving odds of 2 to 1 were reported in cafes, but netually very little money was in sight.

Close observers point out that the careers of the two teams have not been similar this season. Yale has been consistent in winning her practice games and has not yet had her goal line crossed, while Princeton fell before the onslaught of Dartmouth's eleven and has been scored on by other teams. It is because of the somewhat remarkable showing of Yale with a team which, owing to its light weight, has been unable to use to any extent the heavy tackle plays of the past years that the sons of Eli are so full of confidence of winning.

The Princeton team stopped over in New York to-night, but members of the vanguard from that college who have reached here reported that every man is in prime shape and full of courage, and especially happy over the prospect of the good weather.

Trainer Mack, of Pale, says every man who has been prepared for the Princeton game is in good condition.

Well-Matched Teams Will Meet

Here Thanksgiving Day. Military Institute meets the eleven from Blacksburg at Broad Street Park on Thanksgiving Day, the Richmond public s going to be surprised to find they have teams more nearly matched than the most hopeful had ever supposed. The much talked about, much read about Virginia Polytechnic Institute team, which has defeated such a long list of universities and colleges this season will lose three of its very best stars, who will be unable to participate in this game on account of the four year association rule. Stilles, Willson and Carpenter are the three men Virginia Polytechnic Institute will be unable to use in this game. Stilles is the best center rush in the South. In fact, he has yet to meet his match, though this is his fifth year at foot-ball. Ilis place will be filled by Johnson, a hardy, but green, man. Willson, the great tackle, upon whom Virginia Polytechnic Institute relies to make its greatest gains in the line, will give way to Diffendal, who is a substitute guard, and will be new in this position of tackle. Carpenter, half back, means more to his team than any other man could be. The team is not the same without him. His place will be taken by Handey, a back of some experience on Clemson College, but who fails to get off quickly with the ball. The headwork of Carpenter will be saddy missed. It is easy to see that with the loss of these men Virginia Polytechnic Institute will present quite a different team when she meets Virginia Milliary Institute to the one that defeated University of Virginia or West Point. Besides this, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, This appears very damagerous. Fair Americans View Mexican Matadors Tossed On Horns of Mad Bulls.

SCREAM TO BE TAKEN OUT

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.-A dispatch to the Tribune f: 1 El Paso, Texas, says: In the bull fight at Cludad Juarez yesterday, given for the American mining convention, there was a panic when Felix Robert, the French matador who claims to be the only matador of that nationality, was tossed by the buil and was carried from the arena bruised and hleeding. Later the same buil, a feroclous beast from the ranch of General Luis Torres, governor of Chihuahua, made a run and plunged its long, sharp horns through matador Francisco Alonzo Piquiro, toesing him into the air and then dragging him about the ring, blood streaming from the wounds in the man's body.

The spectators sickened at the sight and women fainted and screamed to be taken out. The seats wore packed with Americans from every section of the United States, few of whom had ever seen a buil fight, and for a time the situation was serious. Many men rushed from the sickening sight in horror, while women in many instances were carried out unconscious.

Order was finally restored, but most of the Americans left, deciding that they had already seen enough of the Mexican and Spanish national sport, although this was only the second buil up for slaughter out of the four marked for the matador's sword. Robert, the French matador who claims Solitude.

Would I might speak with tongues of more than me
To tell the beauty of a quiet gien where the timid birches cluster, each a maid
White-robed and slender, waiting half afraid For what portentions hours may produce. Would I might paint the hemlock and the spruce, Glooming disdainful of the hirches' fear But that pure, ardent lake, where the red Feed on the margin, sweet with fragrance brief

And dainty succulence of lily-leaf.

Here roams the fawn, unfrighted and alone, Free as the breeze, pine-scented, and far flown
From mountain sides; and here the buck and roe, Grazing, or drinking from the quiet flow, Share with the lake its wild bright purity. Oh, fairer than man's fairest work to see its this true realm of silence and delight, Of spley scents, all flooded o'er with bright.

Is this true taken of the control of spley scents, all flooded o'er with bright of summer skies. So lucent seems this little lake of loveliness and dreams, that clouds lie feathery light within its breast, And all its polished stones are jewels dressed By lapidaries to a sumptuous sheen that adds an Orient richness to the same:

That adds an Orient richness to the scene;
While is and out glimmers the luring dye Or racing trout in full-genimed panoply. Here, too, the heron blue, in lonely sinle, Crosses the reeds with flight deliberate, And lighting slowly on his log-made throne. Stands motionless, and kingly, and alone. Nor loyeller land nlight any king desire, for where could freer burn the holy lire Or wisdom pure and aspiration high Than in so calm a spot and under such a sky!

The First Run of the Season Will Be From "Chantilly."

Week Before,

That drag hunting is growing in favor is a pastine among the people of this section is made manifest by the renewed nterest with which the members of the eep Run Hunt Club are greeting the pening of the hunting season.

A called meeting of the board of govraors of the Deep Run Hunt Club was held at the Commonwealth Club on Thursvarious committees for the ensuing year as announced. Of the Hunt Committee, was announced. Of the Hunt Committee, that committee which has the care of the pack and the conduct of the hunting particularly within its jurisdiction, Mr. E. B. Sydnor was made chairman, having as his associates Messrs, J. R. J. Anderson and M. deG. Hobson.

To-day at 3:30 P. M. hounds will be thrown in at "Chanilly," about a mile above the Boulevard, on the Broad Street Road. The spot is an ideal one for the meet, because of its easy accessibility to meet, because of its easy accessibility to both horses and vehicles and because of the broad pastures of the Chantilly estate, which afford an unobstructed view of the field as it gallops over four fences. The honorary officers of the hunt, Mr. E. B. Sydnor, huntsman, and Messrs. J. R. J. Anderson and M. deG. Hobson, whippers-in, will at that time fill their positions for the first time this season, and it is believed that, with the assistance of these gentlemen, the hunt will be conducted in the most sportsmanlike and satisfactory manner, giving hounds the one requisite needed to place the Deep Run pack among the best in this country, an opportunity to run without fear of being riden over by the field.

The first of the club's weekly receptions will also be given this afternoon at the club-house, immediately after the hunt. Mrs. George Cole Scott, Mrs. Calvin Whiteley, Mrs. J. S. Bryan, Miss Frances Scott, Miss Mary Buford and Miss Lulie Whitlock will receive and dispense the hospitality of the club.

Among members numerous inquirles are being made as to the probability of another hunt ball to be given his season. The success of that given last year was so pronounced and so encouraging that the management of the club has expressed its approval of the suggestion, and a little later in the season arrangements will be hegun for the second annual Deep Run hunt ball, to be given during the week just preceding Lent. This announcement will give pleasure to many whose memory recalls the gay scene in the Masonic Temple, little less than a year ago, when the powdered heads of women and the scarlet-clad shoulders of men kept lireless accompaniment to the merry hunting songs, "John' Peel" and "Drink, Puppy, Drink."

WARRENTON HUNT.

An Elegant Breakfast at Home of James K. Maddux.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WARRENTON, VA., November 17.-

WARRENTON, VA., November 17.—
What was probably the best drag hunt ever held since the Warrenton Hunt Club was organized took place this afternoon in ideal weather and with a large field. Mr. James K. Maddux, the new Mi. F. H., hunted the hounds, which have been leased for the season from the Orange County Hunt, of New York.

Following the drag, which was laid over the farms of Mossrs, Barry, Edwards, Huyes and Carter, the check taking place at the latter's barn. Hounds were not thrown again until reaching Mr. W. H. Gaims's gate, on the Waterloo Pike, where the majority of the field changed to their second horses. The line then ran eastward over Dr. Kerrs stock farm, crossing the Springs turnpike in Mr. Maddux's field, close to his lodge gate, making a circuit of the entire farm. Eight full plank fences in succossion frought grief to several of the field, three horses going down at one fence. The flinish was in front of Mr. Maddux's house, where the hunt club and many others were entertained at a most delightful breakfast, which was served by Rocher, of Washington.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:
A temporary furry in the money market had little delectrious effect in commercial channels, most reports indicating a further increase in the yolume of business, Orders came forward freely for distant delivery and buyers experienced much difficulty in making purchases for quick shipment. Wholesale trade in holiday goods is now well under way, and retail distribution of seasonable merchandles responds to the generally lower temperature. There is still some delay in mercantile collections, especially at the South, where cotten is now being marketed freely. Traffic conditions have improved and railway carnings for the first week of November were 4.9 per cent. larger than in the corresponding time last year.

Failures this week numbered 240 against year. Fallures this week numbered 240 against 217 last year.

Proper Handling of Tobacco.

Damp weather is very much needed for the proper cure and handling of the fragrant weed. Conditions are new so dry that much care has to be exercised in handling tobacco, and in consequence very little is being brought into the market. The sales this week have been very light, owing to the dryness of the senson, only about 150,000 pounds having been soid altogether. The sales will continue light so long as the present state of weather exists. The prices have been better this week man include the continue of the senson, averaging 7c., which is considered a good price for the quality of the offerings.

MASS MEETING FUH STATE FAIR

mittee contained this feature. But more careful consideration has led the committee to believe that the proposition is not feasible, and that the invitation, if extended, would not be accepted.

"North Carolina already has a big fair at Raleigh," and Mr. H. L. Lorraine, chairman of the committee yesterday, "and it is scare...y reasonable to expect the people there to drop their own orterprise which is proving a great business success, in favor of one in some other State. They might reasonably turn the tables, say they had a fair of their own, week.

Mrs. Katherine M. Anderson attended the marriage of her son, Mr. Jackson Anderson, to Miss Sue B. Brooking, the marriage having taken place last Wednesday at Mrs. George A. Hanson, who has been ill at her home on Rowland Street, is improved. tables, say they had a fair of their own, and invite us to come there. Besides, how much money do you supose we could raise in this city to help support a fair to be held in Raleigh? The same sentiment will doubtless prevail there with respect to Richmond."

It is not an easy matter to determine the exact nature of the report to be made by the committee, though a tolerably clear idea of its provisions can be given. Neither Mr. Lorraine nor any other member of the body will talk, and only declare darkly that there will be "something doing" at the mass-meeting to-night. The last meeting of the com-mittee was held Thursday night when the situation was gone over for the last time, and the report completed. The committee, it is understood, will recommend that a joint stock company, with a capital of $100,000 be organized.

The stock will be devided into shares of $25 each, of which twenty-five per cent.
will be payable early in January, perhaps, and the remainder at stated intervals during the year. There will be no recom-mendation of a site. This is a plain business precaution necessary on account of the enhancement in values, the an-nouncement of the choice would effect, unless an option has, already been secured, which the committee did not feel authorized to do. The committee has, however, made an investigation of the matter of the site and will lay such information as it has in its possession before the new committee or the board of directors to which will be left the final determination of the location of the Mrs. Kate Harrower, of Walkerton, was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Julien Minson, No. 2335 West Grace Street, last week.

Mrs. Arthur G. Ryan, of St. Albans, Vt., is expected in Richmond early this week as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert H. Kelm, No. 2310 West Grace Street, Mrs. Samuel Dunn with her daughter, Miss Penelope, and their cousin, Mrs. William Dunn, of West Philadelphia, made a short visit to Mrs. B. H. Melton, No. 1824 West Grace Street, last week. Miss Annie Benuchamp Haley, of No. 1630 West Grace Street, daughter of Rev. J. J. Haley, has accepted a position in the Suwanee High School, Live Oak, Fla. Rev. J. W. Mitchell attended the meeting of the Baptist General Association at Charlottesville.

Miss Jennie Kate Mitchell spent several days last week with her friend, Miss Incz Damon, near Petersburg.

Rev. J. J. Sams, D. D., of Baltimore, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. Addison Cooke, No. 1990 West Grace Street.

Mrs. Arthur W. Chase spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Libby last week. Sunday a family reunion was held. Mr. Stanhop Libbey and family, also Miss Dorothy Pleasants, from Petersburg, being present.

The report will further treat in detail of the scope of the fair and the arrange-ment of the exhibits. Considerable atten-tion will be given to this all-important point. The exhibits will be grouped in departments and a director will be named and the proposition has been given felt, and the proposition has been given great encouragement by the announcement by the Passenger and Power Conpany that it will turn over the skating rink to the Fair Association if it desires to include it in the amusement features to be offered.

Prospects Very Bright.

Prospects Very Bright.

Every indication points to the great success of the fair movement. The interest being taken in Richmond is very encouraging, and tentative offers of subscriptions before even the plans have been agreed upon, seem to assure us speedy raising of the necessary capital. Business men and farmers in the State at large are taking notice. Mr. Lorraine said yesterday that he was daily receiving letters from every section, expressing (By Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
PARIS, November 17.—The Council of Ministers at a meeting to-day decided to inflict fifteen days' arrest on General Brugere, commander of the army, for making public denials of a conference which he had with the Minister of War relative to the controversy between General Brugere and General Percia, who was chief of staff under General Andre, the former Minister of War. General Brugere gave out a statement saying that he had refused the war minister's resaid yesterday that he was daily receiving letters from every section, expressing the hope that the fair will be held. With such a sentiment behind it the fair seems fairly certain of a group of notable exhibits and a record attendance.
